An inmate who ran away from the Custer County Jail after carrying Bibles out following a church service Tuesday night was recaptured Wednesday morning near Stafford.

The 25-year-old inmate, James Edward Weber II, has lived in both Arapahoe and Clinton, surrendered about 11 a.m., after crossing a rural road in front of a citizen who was talking at the time on a cell phone with the Oklahoma Highway Patrol. Sheriff Bruce Peoples said the citizen directed authorities, who already had flooded the area, to his location.

Before getting caught, he allegedly had stolen an auto in Clinton.

Records from the Clinton Daily News show that in 2014 alone, Weber was charged with four separate felonies and four misdemeanors.

Peoples said several people had conducted a Bible study in the jail Tuesday night and when it was over, they needed some help to carry out a box of Bibles and possibly other books, papers and videos. He said later in the spur of the moment asked Weber to help them while he held the door open.

The people’s car was very near the open door, said Peoples, and once Weber got outside, he placed the items in the car, turned around and took off running.

“He has lots of relatives and friends who live in Arapahoe,” said the sheriff. “We’re investigating now to see whom he may have contacted. He eventually got a ride to Clinton and evidently was put in touch with someone who knew where there was a car he might be able to steal.”

Evidently it wasn’t a very good car, though. Peoples said that’s one thing which led to Weber’s capture.

The car broke down somewhere near Stafford, which is located about six miles west of Clinton and two north.

Someone with information about the search spotted the red car and an individual near it matching Weber’s description, so lawmen concentrated their search in that area Wednesday morning. Soon the fugitive and a woman believed to have been with him was taken into custody.

Clintonites still getting meals delivered

Clinton Ministerial Alliance recently gave Opportunities Inc. a $3,000 donation for its elderly nutrition program. The alliance also expressed continued support for meal deliveries similar to the way churches used to provide volunteers to deliver meals. Here, 78-year-old Frank Siler on Sixth Street receives a meal delivery from Trenda Allison.

Ham was on the menu Tuesday. Siler receives hot meals five days a week and said he couldn’t do without the meal delivery program. Seniors wanting to get on the meal delivery program within the city limits (dine-in service is also available) need to call 323-4373 (this is also the number to call to volunteer to deliver meals). Meal patrons should expect to pay for a week to a month of meals in advance for $4 per meal, five days a week.

Right now, between 20 to 24 are having their meals delivered, and the program is growing.

Maddie, Stotesby, Dan Smith, Alex Hatfield of Weatherford and Karns Frans of

The Horse Team prob-

tion was to promote teamwork, problem solv-

All teams are pro-

scenario of horse man-

was the sustainable use of anthelmintics (de-

Custer County and other farmers in the region
talked about the general topic two weeks before the contest. Mem-

during that time frame and each team is given 15 minutes to read the problem.

The Red Tornadoes will be hosting a regional tournament on Friday and Saturday. The regional tournament is the final state tournament for theClinton Class 4A West regional host.

The regional tournament will be held at the Tornado Dome beginning at 1:30 p.m. on Friday. The Lady Indians will face Shattuck this weekend at Shattuck. The Indians edged the Lady Indians by 17 to Calumet but head coach Christy Edelen expects her team to keep it at our pace in the regional tournament. The Lady Indians need to defend like they are capable and just really well-balanced,“ she said. “If we defend like we’re capable of, we’ve got a chance. “They can’t make a lot of points. We’ve got to keep it at our pace instead of theirs.”

Carlisle said his team will need good play down low. They got that from center Adam Mitchell and forward Braden Terrell in defending Thomas in the paint in a game Arapaho won.

The Indians move on to the regional tournament at Shattuck this weekend. If they win, they play Saturday at 8 p.m. in the regional finals, while a loss means a Friday 8 p.m. game to the finish on Saturday.

The Lady Indians need a win to advance to the regional tournament. The Lady Indians lost by 17 to Calumet but head coach Christy Edelen said after the game she expects her team to regroup and win today. With a win the Lady Indians advance to Friday’s regional tournament consolation bracket contest Friday at 1:30 p.m. at Shattuck.

“So we would like to be known as the wrestling capital of western Oklahoma.”

Shawn Finch
CHS head wrestling coach

With the Clinton High wrestling program on the rise and the Class 4A West Regional coming to town this weekend, Clinton is becoming Hub City for wrestling in the western part of the state. And that is just what CHS head wrestling coach Shawn Finch and the school administration is hoping for.

“Wrestlers from 16 teams will hit the mat at the Tornado Home beginning Friday in the 4A West Regional, vying for a berth in next week’s Class 4A State Tournament in Oklahoma City. With that, many wrestlers in town for the two-day event, along with coaches, family members, friends, and wrestling fans, the tournament will be a boost for area merchants.”

Finch said hosting a state event like this is also good for his program and his wrestlers. “We would like to be known as the wrestling capital of western Oklahoma,” he said. “It’s good for the community and good for the kids.”

Betting, bill-paying, health care spending, in- vesting, taxes, insurance, and argh? It’s not easy to stay on top of it all. So ShopSmarter, the shopping magazine from the publisher of Consumer Reports, checks out some new ways to get one's finances organized.

Track Health Care Spending
Try SimpleeONE. It’s overwhelming. SimpleeONE helps providers and insurance make sense of the mountains of bills and notices they receive. Some companies that use them online or via CD-ROMs or mobile apps. In ShopSmarter’s 2014 evaluation, H&B Block’s Deluxe CD-ROM was a favorite. Its simple design and easy navigation made it a good choice for DIY tax纳税人. If a taxpayer would rather do his or her re-turn online, ShopSmart liked TurboTax’s Deluxe online version better than its CD-ROM, as H&B Block’s Deluxe online program. But if one runs his or her own business or has a complex investment portfolio to manage, he should probably stick with a professional tax preparer.

Painful Tax Returns
Try TurboTax, TaxACT or H&B Block Program. Whichever one takes wads of paperwork to a tax preparer every year or takes on the task himself, tax prep programs are a good idea. They help one get a handle on his financial life. You can use them online or via CD-ROMs or mobile apps. In ShopSmarter’s latest bill introduced by Hickman that seeks to keep-oil and gas producers and jobs in Oklahoma. Last year, he took the lead and authored legislation that secured another billion dollars in gross production tax incentives, making Okla-homa a more appealing drilling location in the region, made even more closely together in the development to make up for something else that they needed to keep increasing their intake to get the same effect. People who regularly consume energy drinks and shots have become so energized: the energy industry continues to thrive in Oklahoma.

Don’t make energy drinks a daily habit
DEAR DOCTOR K: I have two kids and a high pressure job. I’m always exhausted. Lately, I’ve been drinking an energy drink in the af-ernoon to get through the day. My husband thinks this is dangerous. Is he right? — DIANE FROM OKC
DEAR DIANE: I’m sure many readers can relate to the mid-afternoon slump. It’s no wonder that energy drinks and shots have become such a fast-growing category in the beverage industry. What gives energy drinks their jolt? Caffeine is a key ingredient. It occurs naturally in coffee, tea, chocolate, cocoa and chocolate, and is added to energy drinks and some soft drinks. Caffeine is a stimulant. When you consume a food or drink that contains it, your brain cells fire messages quickly, improving concentration and reaction time. The heart pumps blood faster and more forcefully, increasing your energy level.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend has obsessive-compulsive disorder. She feels she needs to keep increasing their intake to get the same effect. People can become dependent on caffeine as their body may no longer get the energy it needs. Energy drinks can contain up to 242 milligrams (mg) of caffeine per serving. In comparison, a 5- to 6-ounce cup of coffee contains about 100 mg of caffeine. A 12-ounce can of Coca-Cola has 90 mg of caffeine. Most energy drinks also contain lots of sugar. Together with the caffeine, this can lead to a jolt of energy and then a crash (just like eating a candy bar). Energy drinks also contain a mix of herbs and other substances that are marketed as “energy boosters,” though many of these substances have not actually been proven to increase energy.

Many people have reported negative reactions after consuming energy drinks, including heart palpitations, chest pain, high blood pressure, anxiety, irritability and sleep disturbances. Some people who regularly consume energy drinks report side effects that lead them to need to keep increasing their intake to get the same effect.
