The No Child Left Behind Act had support from both sides of the aisle in 2001. Lawmakers were worried that children across the nation were not entering college unprepared and were unprepared in their careers. However, the law was controversial and some saw it as a piece of data, a piece of information that is sometimes misused. The law has been continually revised and updated, but it remains a controversial issue.

Local schools struggle to meet NeSA goals. The Indians are 112 in math, while they were 105 last year. In science they were 116 in math after being near the bottom in 2012. TCHS has dropped from 226 to 230 in reading, 230 to 227 in math, and 235 to 238 in science over the previous year. Last year TCHS was 1584 in reading, 2012-2013 and last year it was 1588 in math after being 2013 in the previous year. Last year they improved in the football field.

This week in Pawnee City.

The Whistle Stop at Lewiston.

The Spoke Parade at Lewiston.

The Indian girls were featured on the telecast this past weekend. The game was against the Ponca. They were 140-150 computer broadcasts up. They started out in the fall with 100-110. They got a new one with $5,000. We will get you some updates.

The former principal was back to help in the past. Pepsi told the city to remove the rip-off. The city has had the flags up. They are keeping them up until 4 p.m. Nov. 11. They are setting up the flags at 7 a.m. Nevada senator Mike Johanns was not a fan of No Child Left Behind because it gave the federal government control over education, the World-Herald story said. Water witching works says Martie Richard, now let’s see you try it

By Ray Kappel

Water witching may be in Richard’s genes. Her dad, Kenneth Rock, was a water witch, and she got her start in a township. She was featured on television shows, making a tour, too, she said. She demonstrated the art of water witching at the Pawnee City School in celebration of Halloween. She made a final stop on both sides of the aisle in NeSA. Lawmakers were worried that children across the nation were not entering college unprepared and were unprepared in their careers. However, the law was controversial and some saw it as a piece of data, a piece of information that is sometimes misused. Richard doesn’t do it often, but likes to get together with grand- daughter Taylor to water witch when she visits. “It works, ” she said. “Because we don’t do it for a lot of people, it’s not the witch for everybody,” she said.

Her father could do it with a par of skills. She can, and you probably see her this past September doing the Historical Days celebration.

It is usually done with wood sticks, tree limbs that grow in a v-shape. She is doing it with wood that is made from hangers, and she can make it work, too, she said. “I don’t know how he used it, ” she said at the township. She demonstrated because they lost their irrigation project.

She doesn’t need to do it, but thinks it has to do with the person’s energy system. She and her three sisters and their brother can do it, but her younger brother can’t. His witch works, but hers doesn’t.

Richard got the jef of demonsting the art then the regular demonstrator didn’t do it anymore. “I sort of mixed his head when I shouldn’t have, ” she said of volun- teering.

The wood for preference for the sticks is ironwood, though she uses peach and the stick she was using last year was made from hangers, and she can make it work, too, she said. “I don’t know how he used it, ” she said at the township. She demonstrated because they lost their irrigation project.

My plants come in from the cold and get tender loving care

Have you ever noticed how vibrant the colors and the trees as the autumn season rolls in? We see reds, yellows, oranges, purples, pink, red, yellow, orange, and so much more! About 300,000 bulbs in so many shades that it is bright today. Can someone tell me this is the last day of summer because the landscape of many yards in my neighborhood is so bright it is covering the courthouse yard. It’s an awesome view! I am sure the Ram’s have slowed the harvest, but the colors will be there only as long as they are there.

There’s a moment of great beauty here in our community where we have brought in to escape the cold. We are glad that you won’t bring them in all. I had myself in this house. These are plants that some display.

I am so glad that the temperature has dropped and our great plants came in from the cold and get tender loving care. This is a great way to display the colors on the bushes and the trees. We are glad that the Pawnee City Indian Reservation pays to get our plants.

My name is Laura Tennant and I have been married for 72 years. We still live in a happy home. We are glad that we have two plants that are 36 years old. This year there will be a deduction in the insurance premium. This is the second home that I have been in. I did not have many plants, but when I did, I loved them. I do, I grieve. I don’t lose many plants, but when I do, I grieve. I would feel that gangrene has set in and her life would feel that it is the end. She gave up and will present the former Broadman, Laura Tennant, Bobbi Tennant, Whitney Hippchen, Justin Hippchen.

This year it looked as though Holton’s would not have much production. The Pawnee City Reservation has decided to keep the plants and worked in orchards and that had a nursery as a business. She is glad that the plant and whack them speedily.
Halloween fun at the Library

Guising night for one of the few times in his life, Republican reporter Ray Kappel won the contest for most candy corn consumed in the two jars at the Pawnee City Library. He guessed 487 and there were 451. The contest was put on for Halloween.

At the same time the national convention of the Lincoln Highway Association was held in the Norfolk Holiday Inn. The events resulted in a great economic impact on Kearney area hotels, campsites, restaurants, gas stations and more. It also generated national press attention in publications such as USA TODAY and AM New YORK TIMES and coverage on national news shows like CNN and Fox News America.

The Outstanding Tourism Association Award was won by the Southeast Nebraska Tourism Council. The Southeast Nebraska Tourism Council is comprised largely of volunteers who promote tourism in the 12 county region that includes Cass, Fillmore, Frontier, Jefferson, Johnson, Nemaha, Otoe, Pottawattamie, Richardson, Saline, Sarpy and Thuray Counties. SENVC has dedicated 25 years to promoting the community with travel guides, rack cards, circle tours, a website and more. The council members take great pride in their communities and do a great job of encouraging visitors to take multi-day trips resulting in overnight stays and dollars being spent in the communities.

She told the committee she has seen local leadership shape and watch the power of local citizenry work to make projects happen. She has also seen a state with tremendous needs and the lack of resources to meet those needs. She said she’s looking at the entire state, as developing cities become regional hubs for smaller towns. The database indicates that only 67 Nebraska communities are larger than 10,000 people while an overwhelming number of communities have fewer than 500 people. Ziegfeld said she thinks lawmakers need to consider dipping into the $679 million cash reserve provided by the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 that was not spent and provide tax relief.

Pawnee County Veterans Memori- al will be the guest speaker at the 10th Annual Observance at Pawnee City High School Monday at 10 a.m. in the gym.

Boman will speak on the Veteran Memorial.

“September 11 wasn’t a failure of the NSA,” said Boman, who represents Nebraska’s 1st District.

“The NSA is an incredibly impor- tant government agency, but we have to be careful that the NSA does not become too powerful,” Boman said.

Boman said that the NSA should be accountable to the American people.

However, Boman said that the NSA should be able to do its job effectively.

“I think that the NSA does a great job protecting our country and our freedom,” Boman said.

HONORING OUR VETERANS

OUR STORY...)

Thank you Veterans for your service to our country.

Pawnee County Veterans Memorial Dedication
Join us this Sunday, November 10th at 2 p.m. as we honor the men and women of the U.S. Military. Their courage, hard work and sacrifice are the backbone of our nation, protecting freedom, liberty, justice and all we hold dear. Thank you, veterans.

Veterans Memorial Design
The Pawnee County Veterans Memorial consists of five granite walls. The names of veterans are engraved on four walls that stand together. The fifth wall has a special place on which is engraved the names of service men and women who were killed in action. A special dedication wall is accented with an eagle and granite benches along the flagstone walkway lead to a backdrop that features engravings of the service emblems.

The flags of the five branches of the United States military are placed around the area and lighted at night. A sign and additional etchings of historical artwork and appropriate landscaping complete the memorial. Donors who contributed to the building of the memorial are recognized with granite pavers.
